

press release

February 17, 2006 "Solera Sustainable Energies Company is proud to announce new expanded Toronto location".

Consistent with its belief that sensible Government incentives for renewable energies will be forthcoming, the company has prepared and is ready to accept the challenges of a fast-growing renewable energy market. They have expanded with greatly increased resources and capabilities in renewable energy system design engineering, manufacturing, service and installation, and wholesale product supply.

